

Who's getting 'clipped'? Barbers, beauticians differ

Efforts are being made to revise the wording in a portion of the Illinois Beauty Culture Act, originally written in 1925, it was learned this week.

The section under scrutiny relates to cutting and trimming hair and was inserted in the beautician's regulatory legislation directly from the Illinois Barber Law—"an act to regulate the pursuit of the business, art and avocation of a barber," enacted on June 10, 1909, as amended.

Spearheading the efforts to gain a different interpretation of the wording or revise portions of the Beauty Culture Act itself are the Illinois Hair-dressers Association and the Chicago School Owners Association, it was learned.

The controversial haircutting issue is not confined to the Quad-City area. Barbers here, however, are threatening beauticians with prosecution if they cut hair without first being registered as a barber with the Illinois Department of Registration and Education.

A notice has been issued in the Press-Record by the Granite City Barbers Union, Local 483, stating that prosecution will result from violation of specific rules.

Carl Buehler, Local 483 secretary-treasurer and business representative, said a number of instances in which beauty salons are cutting hair in violation of state acts have been called to the attention of himself and union president Robert Rogers.

One local beautician said the state hairdressers association "has been fighting this thing the past four years. In the meantime, five states have passed or changed state laws."

Fifteen states also have enacted or amended laws permitting beauticians to cut men's hair, she said.

According to Buehler, beauticians are not permitted to cut hair for men or women customers unless they also are registered with the state as barbers.

The crux of the matter apparently revolves around Rule 8 (G) of the Rules and Regulations for the Administration of The Illinois Beauty Culture Act, issued by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education under the authority of Dean Barringer, Ph.D., director.

The section states: "Unprofessional conduct, which is specified as a ground for the revocation and suspension of a certificate of registration under Section 12 (K) of the Illinois Beauty Culture Act, includes but is not limited to the following:

"1. Cutting or trimming hair, unless same is done in consultation with arranging and dressing the hair of any person;

"2. Advertising haircutting or trimming of hair unless it is offered in connection with the arranging and dressing of the hair of any person; and,

"3. Violation of Section 2a of the Illinois Beauty Culture Act."

Interpretation of the above wording presently is under close examination, it was learned.

Buehler said a letter from Barringer was received by the Barbers Union and other interested parties last June 7, notifying all concerned "until a decision is rendered by the Appellate Court or the Supreme Court nullifying the rule on attached sheet, this department is required to enforce Rule 8 as written."

The union officer said that barbers are required to complete 1,800 hours schooling, plus a two-year apprenticeship before being qualified.

Beauticians are required to complete 1,500 hours schooling and successfully pass a state examination to receive a state beauty license.

Ironically, part of the required curriculum, as detailed in the state's Rules and Regulations to Administer the Illinois Beauty Culture Act, specifies that beauty culture students must learn "Hair Dressing (thinning; trimming; shaping; fingerwaving; all methods of curling; all types of hair and hair attachments; marcelling; pressing)."

It also was learned that prior to issuance of a registered beautician license, student candidates must pass a written examination and practical demonstration of skills.

According to several local beauticians the examination procedure requires the license applicant to cut, trim and shape the hair of a model.

In response to the barbers' allegations, a Granite City beauty salon owner commented on the number of hours spent by the beautician-student in learning "voltage and wattage of electrical equipment used by operators."

Basic fundamentals and detailed procedures in giving permanent waves and coloring hair also are taught at great length, she said. "These can be hazardous if done by untrained persons and both are being offered at local barber shops," she reported.

"Do the barbers get the same type of basic training in these areas as beauticians," she questioned. "We have heard that some take short courses to learn coloring, but others have no formal training in these areas," she said.

Plan group unable to decide on fire station

Failure to muster a sufficient number of votes either for or against issuing a special use permit for construction of a new fire station at Johnson Road and Richmond Avenue kept the Granite City Planning Commission from officially acting on the request at a meeting Thursday afternoon.

The Planning Commission was to recommend approval or denial of the special use permit. That recommendation was to be taken into consideration by the Granite City Council at its meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall.

The council is free to approve or deny the special use permit tonight, but will be told the Planning Commission took no official action.

Eight members of the 12 member Planning Commission were present at the meeting.

The commission's attorney previously issued an opinion that seven yes or no votes are required for the commission to take any official action, since a majority of the whole 12 members must vote alike on an issue, not a majority of those present at the meeting.

Objectors who reside near the proposed location asked that commission member Herman Schroeder abstain from voting since he, as a realtor, sold the property to the city and voting on it could represent a conflict of interest.

Edwin F. Reiske, a commission member, made a motion that the special use permit be denied and member Barry Loman seconded the motion.

Reiske's motion received the most votes, 4-3, but the motion failed because it did not have seven votes in favor.

Discussion leading to the vote included objections from residents saying they felt their properties would be devalued.

Fire Chief Donald Parente said he and the city assessor did not feel the fire house would cause the surrounding property to decline in value.

The residents requested that the city find another location for the fire station and Parente said the city's Fire and Water Committee and an aldermanic committee selected the site as being centrally located in the existing Nameeki area as well as areas in which future annexations are planned.

Parente said his fire trucks are experiencing difficulty leaving the present Nameeki Road fire station because of heavy traffic. Objectors said they felt the traffic is just as heavy on Johnson Road.

The fire chief and City Engineer Monroe Brewer contended that traffic counts had been taken at both locations and showed far less traffic on Johnson Road than on Nameeki Road.

One man said traffic counts were not accurate, since he had noticed the Johnson Road traffic counting meter disconnected several times.

Brewer said the man who read the meter could tell when it had been disconnected and when it was giving an accurate count.

Another objection was that the proposed site is close to St. Elizabeth School and fire trucks could present a danger to children.

Two other actions of the Planning Commission also are to be considered by the City Council tonight.

The commission recommended approval of a petition for the property of Rolla Reeves, 2300 Gary Ave., to be annexed into the city.

The commission also recommended approval of the petition of Mrs. Shirley Valencia for a special use permit to operate a beauty shop in her home at 2920 Victoria Drive. There were no objectors to the beauty shop at the meeting.

A proposal that the Tri-City Regional Port District purchase the Granite City Public Wharf and Terminals from the Mississippi River Bi-State Development Agency will be the subject of a special meeting of the Bi-State agency's board of directors Friday.

After months of negotiations, the Tri-City Regional Port board has proposed that it purchase the facilities for a package price of $525,500.

From revenue generated in the operation of the public wharf and terminals, the Tri-City Regional Port District would pay Bi-State $62,500 per year for seven years.

In addition, the port authority would assume $80,000 in outstanding bond debts and rebate $25,000 to Granite City Steel for rent paid in advance on the facilities.

The steel company still would utilize its facilities at the wharf here.

The remaining $30,000 is expected to come from the state under "an unwritten promise" that if the two sides can come close in negotiations for the sale, the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs will make available a $30,000 grant to assist.

The plan was presented to the Bi-State board during its regular meeting Thursday, but the board decided it needed additional discussion.

Mrs. Jacqueline Phillips, a Bi-State commissioner who heads the agency's waterways committee, suggested a 3 p.m. starting time on Dec. 20 for such a discussion.

Other members of the waterways committee are Mayor Paul Schulz of Granite City and Macler Shepard of St. Louis.

In early negotiations for the sale of the wharf area, the port authority offered $425,000 over six years, but Bi-State sought $500,000.

The port district then upped its price to $510,000 over six years and Bi-State dropped its request to $730,000 over 10 years.

In an effort to reach agreement, the port district added a seventh year payment of $62,500 for the final draft.

Some officials involved in the negotiations said they expect Friday's Bi-State meeting "to culminate the discussions." A successful outcome is anticipated, they added.

At Thursday's Bi-State board meeting, Francis Touchette, supervisor of Centerville Township (St. Clair County), was elected as an Illinois representative. He was appointed by Gov. Dan Walker.

Mayor Paul Schulz was elected as secretary of the Bi-State board, with William Douthett as treasurer. John Brawley was retained as chairman, with Roy May continuing as vice-chairman.

A policy was adopted to have annual elections for each board office, with the maximum period one person may serve in any one office being two years.

Each office must rotate every two years, with Missouri representation alternating with Illinois members.

The board took under advisement a report on the feasibility of reducing bus fares for handicapped persons. A policy is to be formulated and considered by the board at a later date.

Logjam on state car licenses

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett has advised Illinois motorists that 1975 license plates are being mailed out daily and that all reassignments and special request plates received in the Springfield office should be processed by Dec. 20.

"Over 705,533 plates have been mailed from our office but we still have around 200,000 to process and mail," Howlett said.

The Secretary of State's office is releasing 30,000 plates daily, including the three-letter license plates originated last year.

"We have had a record-breaking number of applications for reassignment and special requests," Howlett added. "We hope that the applicants will be patient with us as we near completion of the project."

Reiske's motion received the most votes, 4-3, but the motion failed because it did not have seven votes in favor.

Price to help steer more forceful policy

Rep. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) has been appointed to a special 10-member task force to draft a program of action for the 94th Congress.

Speaker of the House Carl Albert (Dem., Okla.) announced Price's appointment to the committee Thursday, stressing the importance of preparing a comprehensive program to be followed for the next two years.

Joining Cong. Price in this effort will be such Democratic leaders as Cong. Jim Wright and Cong. Barbara Jordan, both of Texas, and Cong. Morris Udall of Arizona.

"I am pleased and honored to be a part of this task force," Price said.

"With the problems currently facing the nation today, firm and decisive leadership in the 94th Congress will be essential, and the House of Representatives is prepared to assume this great responsibility."

Speaker Albert has stated that the keynote of the 94th Congress will be a clear and forceful policy designed to restore public confidence in their elected representatives. I hope that the plans of this committee will become a guiding light for the legislative proposals to be presented in the new Congress."

SIU board ok's new fee system

A project fee for the Open University project at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was approved Thursday by the SIUE Board of Trustees.

According to Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIUE, the fee will provide funds to offset administrative costs in connection with the program. The fee will be payable in lieu of other fees normally paid by students, including the Student Welfare and Recreational Facility Building Trust Fund fee, Athletic Fund fee, Student Activity fee and the Student-to-Student Grand Fund fee.

The Open University project fee approved by the trustees is $25 for a student carrying more than five and less than 11 hours, and $37 for a student carrying 11 hours or more. The fee is in addition to tuition and University Center and book rental fees. These fees are the same as those charged on-campus undergraduate students.

President Rendleman said the program fee follows the precedent set by the May resolution of the trustees in establishing fee schedules for the Scott Air Force Base students, including the Student Welfare and Recreational Facility Building Trust Fund fee, Athletic Fund fee, Student Activity fee and the Student-to-Student Grand Fund fee.

The Open University project is a new and innovative addition to the offerings of the University," President Rendleman said.

"If the initial response to this unique project is a valid indicator, it is being well received by the citizenry of this region."

In other action Thursday, the board:

Adopted a mission and scope statement for SIUE which says the university should "place major emphasis upon the further development of upper undergraduate and graduate programs in the academic and professional fields presently established."

The statement also calls for SIUE to develop new programs in areas where "clear educational needs are identified, and where faculty competence and university resources can justify them."

Trustees voted to send the statement to the Illinois Board of Higher Education which is in the process of developing a fourth phase of its master plan for state higher education.

Authorized renaming of the School of Fine Arts at SIUE as the School of Fine Arts and Communications, effective Jan. 1.

The school includes instruction in music, art, design, theater, speech communication, mass communication, speech pathology and audiology. In the same motion trustees approved dividing the Department of Speech Communications, the Department of Speech Pathology and Audiology and the Department of Theater and Dance.

—Ratified action of its executive committee approving a grant agreement with the Department of Housing and Urban Development regarding revenue bonds sold to finance an addition to the Tower Lake student housing complex at SIUE. The agreement provides that HUD will make an annual interest subsidy grant of $145,000 to SIUE during the life of the bond issue.

—Adopted a resolution stating that "the level of tuition charges is now and ought to remain within the sound discretion of local governing boards." The resolution called for review by the School of Dental Medicine and the SIUE administration of a recommendation of the Illinois Health Education Commission staff calling for tuition increases.

Recommendations on tuition at the School of Dental Medicine are to be made at the Jan. 9 meeting of the Board.

Enrollment rankings change

By MARY LOU MANNING
The University of Illinois at Urbana remains the largest public university in the state even though its enrollment is down from last year. But after that, there's been a shake-up in enrollment rank during the past five years, according to a study compiled by the Board of Higher Education.

In 1970, the state's public colleges and universities, ranked by total degree credit enrollment, stacked up this way: U. of I. at Urbana; Northern Illinois University; Southern Illinois University at Carbondale; U. of I. at Chicago; Illinois State University; Loyola University; Northwestern; Western Illinois University and SIU at Edwardsville. All of these institutions were above the 10,000 mark. This fall, there were 18 institutions over 10,000 in existence in 1970 came in second to the U. of I. at Urbana mark of 37,854. The Urban Skills Institute's campus of the City Colleges of Chicago, reached 27,464 in degree credit enrollment.

These two schools were followed by: NIU, 24,812; U. of I. at Chicago, 20,193; Triton Community College, 19,799; SIU, 19,459; SIU, 19,009; SIU, 15,623; Northwestern, 15,471 and Wilbur Wright Community College, 15,161.

In addition, another eight universities had an enrollment in excess of 10,000. Northern Illinois accounts for two of them with the College of DuPage at 12,344 and William Rainey Harper at 10,713. The survey also indicated that 31 per cent of all college students, in the state attend a public university. Another 45 per cent attend a public community college with the remaining 24 per cent in private institutions.

Throughout Illinois, there are 10 public universities with a total of 13 campuses and 38 community colleges with a total of 48 campuses. In the private school sector, there are 86 institutions and 87 campuses.

Of the 48 public schools, only eight experienced a decline in enrollment over 1973's figures. Topping the list of "losers" was the State Community College of East St. Louis, 15 per cent decrease; followed by Carl Sandburg College, five per cent; SIUC, four per cent; Chicago State and Elgin Community College, two per cent; and Olive-Harvey, U. of I. at Urbana and Rock Valley College, all below two per cent.

BANK EMPLOYEES HONORED. Granite City Trust and Savings Bank employees were honored for their continued support of the Tri-Cities United Way. The 100 per cent employee giving has shown a steady increase over the past several years. Ernest A. Karandjeff, president of the bank, left, accepts a recognition plaque from S. T. "Pete" Nasir, executive director of the United Way.

Loren Davis back from convention

Loren Davis of Granite City, general manager of Dairy Queen of Greater St. Louis, territory operator of American Dairy Queen Corp. has returned from the firm's international convention in Miami. The convention highlighted the 35-year anniversary of "Dairy Queen."

The event drew an additional 2,000 "Dairy Queen" and "Dairy Queen-Brazil" store operators from around the world.

The purpose of the convention was to bring store operators up to date on the newest methods of operation and service to customers. Among the topics covered in seminars were 1975 advertising and promotion programs, nutrition, service, and financial management.

Additionally, Davis had the opportunity to visit many attractions of Miami. Available outside activities included deep sea fishing, horse races, boat cruises, recreational sports and a banquet.

"The convention provided an insight into the latest technological advancements in the fast food franchising industry," said Davis. "It was interesting to review the 35-year history of 'Dairy Queen.' With over 4,200 stores, we know where we have been and where we want to go."

—$1.38—

MR. AND MRS. JON KEITH STAGNER, whose wedding took place at Suburban Baptist Church. The bride is the former Miss Betty Ann Warren, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Braille F. Warren, 217 Briarwood Drive.

Betty Warren becomes Mrs. Jon K. Stagner

Miss Betty Ann Warren, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Braille F. Warren, 217 Briarwood Drive, and Jon Keith Stagner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stagner, Rural Route One, Troy, Ill., were united in marriage on Nov. 1 at the Suburban Baptist Church.

Bouquets of fall flowers decorated the altar for the 7 o'clock evening ceremony performed by the Rev. Bob Worley.

Selections played during the service included "One Hand, One Heart," "Colour My World" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding, the former Miss Warren chose a full length gown of off-white jersey designed in Empire style.

Delicate lace inserts accented the bodice and edged the V-neckline and flared cuffs of the long tapered sleeves.

She wore a lace headpiece to secure a shoulder length veil, bordered in lace. She carried a bouquet of fall blossoms.

Honor attendant Miss Maureen Andria, bridesmaid Miss Peggy Barnes and junior bridesmaid Miss Debbie Warren, a niece of the bride, selected identical gowns.

Their rust and gold jersey dresses featured V-necklines, long sleeves and slightly full skirts accented with self fabric belts.

Each girl carried a colonial bouquet in autumn hues.

Tin Zenk served as best man. Gary Warren and Jeff Stagner, brothers of the bride couple, were groomsmen.

Floyd Brawley and Ron Morien seated the guests.

A reception was held at the Granite City Elks Club immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Stagner, parents of the groom, hosted the rehearsal dinner in their home.

The newly married couple is now residing in Arlington Heights.

Quincy, Belleville West top Warriors

"It was a combination of things," comments Warrior coach mentor Bryan Wilkinson, "that beat us." At Quincy, he recalls, "we made too many mistakes. We turned the ball over too many times and just couldn't seem to connect on shots." Granite City High School South lost its fourth game of the season Friday 61-46 on the road at Quincy Catholic Boys' School. South then fell to 0-2 in Southwestern Conference play Saturday in losing at home to Belleville West, 84-48. South fell behind in the first quarter at Quincy 20-7 and trailed 36-20 at halftime. After the third period, the Warriors were behind 47-29 and then outscored the hosts 18-14 in the final quarter. South dominated the boards, 39-29, and committed the fewest fouls, 14-22. The Warriors made good 10 charity tosses to Quincy's five, but could only connect on 18 field goals while Quincy made 28. Quincy forced 15 Warrior turnovers while giving up the ball nine times. South's defense held Quincy high scorer Jay Fredericks to 15 points. Two Warriors scored in double digits, Ken Bertrand 17 and Bob Hutchings 14. Scoring also for South were Jim Nolan with six points, Rick Fancher four, Dave Rhodes three and Kirk Champion, two. Hutchings' 14 points, Bertrand's 12, and Nolan's 10 paced the Warrior scoring effort against the Maroons of Belleville West, but West's defense prevented the Warriors from getting the ball inside often to the two players who forced long shots that missed their marks. "We knew we had to get those layups," said Wilkinson, "but West made it an impossibility." While West held South's scoring to a minimum, Maroon Players Rusty Lisch and Milton Wiley were connecting with inside and outside shots to give West a 33-20 edge on field goals. Lisch had 22 points and Wiley 14. The Belleville squad led on foul shots 18-12, rebounds 12-20 and fewest fouls, 15-23. South forced 12 West turnovers and gave up the ball 10 times. South trailed at the quarters 24-14, 42-24 and 64-36. Other Warriors who scored were Champion and Dave Naglich, four points apiece, Mike McCreaven three and Frank Holmes, one.

Southeast controls boards, edges North

The cage Steelers of GCHS North now have a 3-1 record after losing a close contest Saturday at Springfield Southeast, 57-53. "We controlled the tempo of the game," said a Steeler spokesman, "and held Springfield's fast break and running game to a minimum. But fouls in the final period were our downfall." North and Southeast deadlocked at 12-12 going into the second period and the host school held a 22-21 margin at halftime. The Steelers changed the trend in the third quarter to lead Springfield 36-35 but then fell behind in the final period when Southeast hit seven field goals and made good eight out of 11 from the foul line. Mike Waldo was the only North player to foul out of the game. Southeast committed 15 fouls while North made 14. The host school committed 19 turnovers to the Steelers' seven, but Southeast pulled down the most rebounds, 38-23.

Again postpone soccer tourney

For the second straight weekend, a scheduled Tri-City Area YMCA boys soccer tournament has been postponed due to unsuitable playing fields. Twenty-nine teams representing seven YMCA soccer divisions were to have competed here Saturday and Sunday for 1974 championships of the fall soccer program. Harold Rudolph, executive director of the local "Y," said a meeting will be held tomorrow to determine if the tournament is to be rescheduled.

Six advance in hoop shoot

Six area youngsters earned the right to advance to district competition to be held at Grigsby Junior High School on Jan. 18 by virtue of their first-place finishes Saturday. The Granite City Elks Lodge 1063 "hoop shoot" free throw contest was held at three junior high schools. Prather, Coolidge and Grigsby. Emerging victorious at Prather were Gina Graham, eight, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Graham, 3136 Myrtle Ave., and Robert Doug Patrick, nine, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patrick, 1617 Pontoon Road. At Coolidge, winners were Cindy Wickham, 10, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wickham, 2804 Edgewood Ave., and Everett Jolly, 11, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jolly, 4540 Walter Ave.

Winners at Grigsby were Sylvia Nasir, 12, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Nasir, 3234 Westchester Drive, and John Brusatti, 13, a son of Louis Brusatti, 2211 Manley Ave. District finalists will advance to a state meet on Feb. 22 at Champaign, with victors then competing in a regional contest March 1 at the University of Iowa.

PE instructors teach workshop

Physical education instructors Miss Leigh Heller of Parkview School and Miss Anna Johnson of Stallings School conducted a basketball workshop last week for grades 3 through 6 at Craig Elementary School in St. Louis County. Skills in movement were presented in the special session. Also attending the workshop from here was Miss Barbara Kerch, director of girls physical education for the Granite City School District.

Wildlife finds cover in Randolph county

Editor's Note: This is one of a series on Illinois' state parks and memorials.

By JOAN MURARO

CHESTER— Woods, water and wildlife are the attractions at the Randolph country conservation area, a 1031-acre tract in Randolph county, about four miles north of Chester off county highway DD.

Amid rolling hills, steep slopes and stands of hardwood timber, lies a 40-acre lake placidly reflecting the trees which in many cases grow down to the water's edge along the 3 1/2 mile shoreline.

Because of the terrain upland game finds plenty of food and cover in the timbers and miles of shrub, autumn olive, bush honeysuckle and multi-flora roses. The department of conservation, which manages the area, provides for food plot planting on small patches of grain sorghum, wheat and corn. Shrubs are used for fences and borders are left unwooded, providing cover and food for quail and rabbits.

During the season, hunting is permitted on more than 800 acres, for squirrel, dove, woodcock, pheasant, quail, rabbit and deer. Because of the terrain and the cover, quail and rabbit hunters find use of bird dogs or beagles almost essential.

Both red and gray squirrels are numerous at the conservation area, and deer appear to be increasing in numbers. Deer can be hunted only with bow and arrow.

Aside from hunting, the conservation area offers five picnic sites with tables and outdoor stoves, located close to drinking water and parking. Campers will find three camp grounds, for tents and trailers. As in all state conservation properties, campers must obtain a permit from the site manager on arrival.

A concrete launching ramp and dock are near a harbor utility building where a concession stand operates during warm weather, and rental boats are available. For fishermen, the lake contains largemouth bass, bluegill, sunfish, channel catfish and bullheads. Only electric motors are allowed.

In winter, ice fishing is permitted when ice is thick enough. Horsemen will enjoy nearly seven miles of bridle paths which wind through the scenic area.

Local quintets in regionals at Dupo and Collinsville

State high school championship competition is becoming less awesome for Quad-City teams, now that they are participating at such a high level more frequently.

But the road to state honors remains a rough one to travel, and the early 1975 basketball tournament series is a good example. Formidable opposition awaits the four local quintets.

The two Granite City high schools, South and North, are both due to compete at Collinsville. Madison and Venice, meanwhile, will vie at Dupo, newly announced assignments indicate.

The Warriors and Steelers of Class AA will join the host squad and Edwardsville, O'Fallon and Highland at the Collinsville regional March 3-7. Entries at the Class A Dupo regional meet Feb. 24-28 are the Trojans and Red Devils, plus the host team and Columbia, Freeburg, Brooklyn and St. Henry's of Belleville.

Study how to balance River Festival budget

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will assume operational responsibility for the Mississippi River Festival (MRF) for the summer of 1975 if a proposal submitted Thursday by SIUE President John S. Rendleman to the SIU Board of Trustees is approved.

President Rendleman's proposal was referred by Ivan A. Elliott Jr., chairman of the SIU Board of Trustees, to the Board staff for study and recommendations.

The MRF board of directors voted Nov. 7 to continue the festival next year and to transfer the responsibility for management to SIUE. In past years, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra has managed the operation.

The proposal includes a projected financial operations statement, indicating estimated income of $779,720, expenses totaling $577,059, with a resulting surplus of $1,670. The festival experienced a loss of $115,461 this year.

President Rendleman said the principal expense reduction would be in regard to the St. Louis Symphony. He said the obligation would be reduced from $242,600 to $50,000, which means the Symphony would appear for only two weeks of the proposed festival season. He said the Symphony has agreed to this proposal.

The president also said the balanced budget is contingent on donations of $40,000 from the University of the Festival, a continuing grant of $50,000 from the Illinois Arts Council, and a new grant of $50,000 from the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA). He said the MRF has been informed that it is eligible for the NEA grant.

The president suggested that the festival season would begin earlier than it has in the past and continue for approximately seven weeks.

The president said the proposal is based on the University handling the entertainment series in the same way that other colleges and universities normally sponsor entertainment programs. He said if the attendance level of the past season can be maintained, the festival can operate with a balanced budget because of the expense reductions proposed.

Two bodies found

The bodies of two men found Sunday in a heavily wooded area in Northwest St. Louis County tentatively have been identified as Todd L. Friedman, 22, son of Julian Friedman, president of Total Comfort Systems, 2260 State St., and Fred Gent, 21, of Florissant, Mo.

Friedman's parents, with whom he lived in Alton, had offered a substantial reward for information leading to the whereabouts of the two men who had disappeared under mysterious circumstances from the Radio Shack store in Florissant on Oct. 28.

The bodies were discovered about 4 p.m. yesterday on the grounds of the Desloge estate, near the Missouri River bottoms area by Edwin Kaelin, an off-duty St. Louis homicide detective, and his daughter, Peggy, 13, who were walking in the woods looking for a Christmas tree.

The area where the two were found is about five miles north of the store at 2596 N. Highway 140 and just 100 yards west of New Halls Ferry Road. Gent was employed as a store manager and Friedman had been working there for one week before both disappeared.

Both bodies were badly decomposed and dressed in clothing resembling that worn by the missing men when they were last seen. Both had been shot in the head.

Their disappearance was discovered Oct. 29 when a customer called Florissant police and reported the store was open but no one was inside. About $25 in small bills had been taken, but $115 was left behind. Cars belonging to the two men were parked nearby.

Two telephone calls were received at the Granite City store from a woman who was attempting to reach Friedman's father shortly after the son was reported missing. The unidentified woman claimed to be calling from Florida, but St. Louis police believed the calls originated from the St. Louis area.

PEONAGE SYSTEM ENDS

No more 'working boys' in state mental facilities

By MARY LOU MANNING

SPRINGFIELD—An era in the field of mental health has ended.

On Nov. 1, Illinois became the first state to discontinue the practice of using working patients in the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities' facilities. It thus ended years of controversy centered around charges of exploitation, many of which have been documented.

No one knows for sure just when the "peonage" system evolved in the state's mental facilities. It existed as far back as the 1930s, and it is not unique to Illinois.

Many years ago, the rationale was that there were sometimes 5,000-6,000 patients at one institution and additional help was needed to care for them, explained an official from the department. "Therefore, the mentally retarded residents with a higher functional level were designated as 'working patients.'"

Many of the clients used as working patients up to as late as 1965 were those clients who are now active in sheltered care and vocational education programs.

"The same clients that up until about the mid-60s were used as working patients received the bulk of transfers into the community programs," he said. "However, years ago anyone diagnosed as mentally retarded, regardless of their functioning level, was institutionalized."

Another reason for the work program was the philosophy that it was therapeutic and allowed the patients to help pay for the cost of their care.

Some mental health officials no longer ascribe to this philosophy.

As the population in the state facilities declined from a peak of 48,000 in 1955 to a current figure of 13,000, the number of working patients has also diminished.

"As of February, 1974, there were approximately 1,100 clients doing tasks construed as work by the Department of Labor," the spokesman said. He pointed out that these workers were not involved in direct care of other patients, as has been done in the past.

"Many years ago, so-called 'working boys' were designated to take care of other residents," he said. "Often-times, this involved physical abuse."

The facilities housing the largest number of working patients were: Galesburg State Research Hospital, 399; Marion State Hospital, 297; Kankakee State Hospital, 113; and Elgin State Hospital, 93.

The most recent study undertaken by the department to determine how big a problem the working system was in Illinois indicated that these workers were involved in such tasks as working on garbage or laundry trucks, clerical positions, kitchen helpers, busboys, messengers, or making beds in large wards. In other words, they were helping maintain the facility. Sometimes they were paid; oftentimes, they were not.

"As a result of that study, we found that the working patients were paid from nothing to $40 or $50 per week," the official said.

Last November, a U.S. District Court Judge ordered the U.S. Labor Department to begin strict enforcement of a 1966 amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938. This amendment extended the minimum wage to employees at nursing homes, hospitals and mental institutions.

The judge, in deciding a lawsuit filed on behalf of three mental patients from Ohio, said that the amendment extended the minimum wage to working patients. He gave the Labor Department until Dec. 1, 1974, to develop guidelines to include these patients and to begin enforcing the law.

Therefore, the DMHDD embarked on the study. It was found that to meet compliance with the federal standards, a price tag of $1 million might be attached.

"The state would have to pay the minimum wage or a fee based on the worker's productivity versus a 'normal' worker's performance," the official said. In addition, such benefits as Social Security, sick leave, etc., would have to be met.

Therefore, the mental health officials decided to discontinue the "work" program.

"Continuation and expansion of sheltered workshops and work activity centers will be encouraged," said LeRoy P. Levitt, director of the DMHDD. "And as an alternative to patient work programs for those patients who have been engaged in facility maintenance or for whom there are not presently opportunities for work in a sheltered workshop or work activity center, Adaptive Behavior Training will be implemented."

"ABT encompasses a wide range of activities going from such simple levels as toilet training to more complex activities such as community living and the development of good work habits."

PROVIDING ENERGY IS OUR BUSINESS. USING ENERGY WISELY IS EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

The Heat Pump in a nutshell.

What it does.
The Heat Pump is a single compact machine that heats, cools, dehumidifies and filters the air in your home. It does all this automatically. You set the temperature you prefer and the Heat Pump does the rest, 12 months of the year. From the homeowner's standpoint, it's about as efficient as an appliance could be.

How it works.
Think of the Heat Pump as an air conditioner that reverses its action in winter. It does not burn anything. Instead, it transfers heat that always exists in air, even at low temperatures. In winter, it collects heat from outside air and circulates it inside your home. In summer, it collects warm air from inside your home, transfers it outdoors and circulates cooled air indoors.

Is the Heat Pump adequate for Illinois' winter temperatures? Yes, a fact that's been attested to over several years by Heat Pump owners in our territory.

That's the Heat Pump in a nutshell. For complete information, just ask our Energy Use Advisor.

THE SCHERMER BULLETIN

Last week's bulletin was printed in such small type that you needed a magnifying glass to read it. We had nothing but complaints from customers about it and they were right. So here is last week's bulletin, hopefully so you can read it. Have you been noticing the games that Chain Supermarkets play? We have been observing plays such as "500 prices frozen" or "7 days notice before we raise a price" etc., etc., etc. Evidently the people that write this propaganda don't give Mrs. Consumer much credit. When they tell you that they aren't going to raise some prices and then exclude Meats, Produce, Dairy Products, etc., they leave you with perhaps canned artichokes and floor polish. Schermer's don't engage in any of this tom-folly. Certainly prices go up and we raise when the pinch hits. For us to tell you that we are going to hold the line and lose money would be the height of folly.

What we do tell you is that we continually search the markets for special buys in the areas that affect you most; that is Meats, Dairy Products and Produce. We make the buys and then feature them in our advertisements. We feel that this is the sound way to help our customers if that is what you are trying to do. Oh yes, one chain advertises that if you buy $7.50 in their store on four different weeks, you can get a 10% discount on the fifth week. If they can afford a 10% discount any week, why don't they give it to you 52 weeks out of the year? Schermer's refuse to play that game also. We are starting our 72nd year at 12th and Madison Ave. We only know one way to do business and we think that until a better way can be developed we will stick with the tried and true policies of 72 years. WE WILL NOT PLAY GAMES. Remember, Lincoln told it: "You can't fool all the people all the time."

Scholars-in-residence sought

The National Science Foundation's Office of Science Information Service (OSIS) is accepting applications for assignments as scholar-in-residence, according to the Office of Research and Projects of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Graduate School. Assignments will be for four-month periods, between July 1, 1975, and June 30, 1976, and include completion of an approved research project, a "professional interaction" with members of the OSIS staff.

To qualify for an assignment, an individual must currently hold a position with a college or university or state or local government agency. The program has been funded under provisions of the Intergovernmental Personnel Mobilization Act.

Additional information is available from the SIUE Office of Research and Projects, Room 3202, General Office Building.

Average American consumes 191 pounds of meat per year

News reports on the world food situation depict people suggesting that we Americans eat less meat in order to free more grain for food," says Lawrence Simerl, University of Illinois agricultural economist.

"Before we make major changes in our eating habits, perhaps we should check to see what the average American currently eats," Simerl suggests.

The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that the total food consumption will reach a record level for Americans in 1974.

Food consumption per person this year is running about two per cent greater than in 1973 — the largest jump in food consumption since 1959. The overall increase results mainly from the sharp increase in meat production over reduced 1973 levels. Meat consumption in any year depends primarily on the amount produced and sold by farmers, explains Simerl.

He points out that in 1974, the average American is eating about seven pounds more beef than the 116 pounds he ate last year. The average American is eating about 66 pounds of pork — five pounds more than he ate last year, Simerl adds.

However, per person consumption of lamb and mutton dropped three-tenths of a pound to 2.4 pounds. The cultural fits in with the historical decline in lamb and mutton production and consumption.

The average American also is using 14 pounds less milk and milk products, consuming 542 pounds this year, Simerl says. The 14-pound drop ranks as the sharpest since 1967. However, the average American continues to drink more lowfat milk and eat more cheese.

The average American not only eats more meat, but also consumes more wheat flour and rice. The United States Department of Agriculture projects he will eat even more wheat flour and rice next year.

Per-person coffee and chocolate consumption have decreased, but consumption levels for fruits, vegetables, potatoes, dry beans and peas, cereal products, and vegetable oils have increased, reports Simerl. Sugar consumption is holding steady this year at about 102 pounds per person — the same as last year.

Stokes play published

Jack Stokes, Belleville Area College speech instructor, director of the Dramachoir and co-director of the touring children's play, is the author of one of eight plays contained in a newly-published anthology of children's plays entitled "Children's Theatre," published by Avon.

The play, "The Incredible Journey of Penda Maria," is known to many children in the area. It was the 1972 BAC touring children's play and was seen by thousands of children in the Belleville and Cahokia areas in January of that year.

In the summer of 1974, the Belleville Community Theatre presented a production of the play at local playgrounds. The editor of this volume, Betty Jean Linton, who has spent several years in the Far East collecting material for her own stories and plays for children, writes in her introduction that the volume's "purpose was to find and make available some original voices writing in English for children's theatre today."

Included in the anthology are plays by Mary Melwood, best known for her "Tinglary Bird," and Aundrea Harris, whose adaptation of "Androcles and the Lion" has been used for four thousand productions in the last 10 years.

Each of the eight playwrights in the anthology prefaces his own play with his thoughts about children's theatre. In his preface Stokes, who for five years has co-directed the BAC children's touring theatre with Roger Crane, also of the faculty, speaks of the need for theatre to break loose from the auditorium and to take theatre to the children.

Stokes also is the author of "Nobody Likes Mr. Mordacious," also written by Stokes, will tour area grade schools Jan. 2 through Jan. 10.

State program for retired teachers

Illinois teachers who have retired from the classroom represent a vast pool of education experience, a resource largely untapped by the state educational system, according to State School Supt. Michael J. Bakalis.

To take advantage of this resource, the state education office, with the cooperation of the Illinois Retired Teachers Association (IRTA), has launched the Retired Teachers in Education Program, Bakalis announced. He said he would recommend to the State Board of Education that it carry on the program after he leaves office.

"This program will offer retired teachers volunteer jobs in the state education office, and the state office will encourage local school districts and other education organizations to take advantage of the expertise of retired teachers," he explained.

"The IRTA has 7,000 members, all of them experienced teachers. These people represent a pool of knowledge and experience that should not be wasted just because they have reached some arbitrary age," Bakalis said.

"School districts need help," he said. They need teacher aides, tutors, library helpers, teachers for homebound students. And they cannot afford to hire enough full-time people to fill all these needs. All these things, a retired teacher can do and can do expertly," he said.

"Many sections within my office have indicated they would welcome help from retired teachers, in jobs ranging from reading project proposals to serving on school visitation teams."

Bakalis noted that while many teachers might be enjoying their retirement, many more would welcome a chance to go back to work part-time in their profession.

"What is needed, and what my office and the IRTA will create, is a framework for placing retired teachers who wish to continue working in jobs which they will find fulfilling," he said.

The program will be coordinated through local offices of the IRTA. Service by the teachers will be voluntary, or in a few cases, will offer nominal pay or full pay. The latter could include tutoring or substitute teaching, or serving on state visitation teams. The nominal pay jobs would reimburse workers for travel and lunch expenses.

"The concept on which the Retired Teachers in Education program is based is not a new one," Bakalis noted. "In fact, many volunteer programs for retired persons have sprung up in recent years—the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, for example."

"What is unique about this program is that it is aimed at a specific group of highly skilled professionals and will place them in jobs where their special skills are needed."

"This program is part of a growing trend of recognizing that persons past retirement still have much of value to offer society. The long-standing practice of pensioning off talented and intelligent persons when they reach an arbitrary age is being reversed, and it is high time."

"We cannot afford to continue this waste of human resources," Bakalis said.

60 awards offered in economics field

Applications for the 13th annual International Paper Co. Foundation Awards Program for excellence in economics instruction may be obtained by contacting the School of Business at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

According to Stanford Levin, assistant professor of economics and director of the Office for Economic Education at the university, competition is open to any elementary or secondary school teacher in public, private, or parochial schools in the nation.

College teachers who offer economics courses or courses including economics also are eligible.

Entrants will be competing for 60 awards and more than $9,000 prize money in five categories: primary, intermediate, junior high, high school and college. Awards will be made to individuals with accompanying recognition for the educational institutions in which they teach.

The deadline for application is July 15, 1975.

'Jazz Revisited' on SIUE station

"Jazz Revisited," a half-hour program of talk and music, will be aired twice-weekly over WSIU-FM (88.7 mhz).

Each program will be aired Saturdays at 4:30 p.m., and again on Mondays at 7 p.m. The program is hosted by Hazen Schumacher, director of broadcasting at the University of Michigan and a jazz buff. Musical selections are made from among more than 10,000 recordings covering the period of 1917-47.

Schumacher usually plays six cuts in the half hour. Most of the programs are organized around a theme, such as a study of an artist's career, or "parables" showing what various musicians have done with the same song.

Winter care of Cacti plants

By WAYNE E. SIEPERT
Lawn and garden consultant

Cacti are dormant in the winter but still require occasional watering to survive. Desert cacti and succulents are easily maintained during the winter when watered on the top every three to four weeks. When you use warm water it isn't harmful to pour water on the plant. Excess water collected in the tray under the pot should always be discarded.

Keep your cactus in a bright location and normal room temperature. When your cactus shows signs of growth water more often.

Wild rabbits can ruin your favorite shrub or small tree by chewing the limbs or eating the bark on the trunk. Now is the time to check the lower twigs of your shrubs to see if rabbits are making a survey. Look for snapped off twigs or occasional nibbled off streaks on the bark. If you find any of these signs, your plants are in danger of severe damage before spring.

Small trees can be protected by wrapping the trunk with heavy paper. Screen or tarp-paper shields are equally effective.

As an emergency measure supply feed for the neighborhood rabbits. Ear corn is a favorite rabbit food during acate weather. One half ear each day per rabbit will aid in saving your shrubs. Apples and potatoes are other favorite foods providing they are not frozen.

Plan boost in lead production

The Metals Group of N. L. Industries, the world's largest recycler of lead, intends to double its current capacity for the production of secondary lead within six years, and nearly triple it in about a decade, says W. De Dapper, group vice president. Metals has announced. Secondary lead accounts for about 35 per cent of all lead currently consumed in the United States.

The program calls for a national network of technologically advanced plants for the recycling of lead. The new plants built as part of this program will have capacities ranging from 50,000 tons to 100,000 tons annually. The average existing secondary lead smelter in the United States today has an annual capacity of approximately 15,000 tons.

In addition to the economies inherent in the larger scale, the new N. L. secondary smelters will be strategically located in areas with geographical access to the country to serve customers most efficiently, particularly the storage battery industry which uses about 50 per cent of all lead products. N. L. operates plants in Granite City.

The new larger plants also are being designed to be environmentally secure, with a new "closed" system that will meet all current and expected environmental regulations, and also achieve a maximum recycling effect for all materials involved.

The company currently has ten smelters with a total capacity of 230,000 tons of secondary lead annually. N. L.'s "closed" system has been in development for several years, and the prototype is currently being installed at one existing plant. It is considered to offer a number of major advantages over earlier methods.

Secondary lead is produced from lead scrap, primarily old automotive electric storage batteries. N. L.'s system, designed for maximum automation, will simultaneously turn out alloyed antimonial lead and unalloyed "soft" or "corroding" lead. Products which were previously part of the waste stream will be recaptured for economic use.

Governor's office distrusts Choate

By ROBERT ESTILL
SPRINGFIELD — The "leak" from Gov. Daniel Walker's office that Walker finds Rep. Clyde Choate, D-Anna, "unacceptable" for speaker of the House stems apparently from a deep distrust of Choate in the governor's office.

"Clyde didn't even come to us," a source close to Walker told this column.

The source indicated the governor's office was surprised Choate hadn't made any attempt to get Walker's blessing and support for his speakership bid.

They read this as a sign Choate is putting his eggs in Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's basket. Daley, who has made no public commitment on the speaker's race, controls at least 40 votes, the largest bloc in the House. Choate will need 89 votes to become speaker.

The Walker aide indicated the governor's office doesn't feel it can rely on Choate. He noted Choate, who comes from a rural district, "led the charge" against the Agriculture Department budget. He also said Choate was saying Walker's son-in-law, David Vaughn, entered the Democratic primary race in an attempt to knock him out. Vaughn entered the race officially after Choate withdrew. Choate subsequently changed his mind and re-entered the race. Vaughn was beaten in the primary by Choate and the district's other Democratic incumbent, Richard Hart of Benton.

Looking forward to the 1976 election, the Walker aide said it is essential to them that they have someone as speaker whom they can work with because, with Democrats controlling both chambers, they will not have any excuse for legislative failures.

A Choate spokesman said Choate probably figured he didn't need to seek Walker's blessing since he generally delivered for Walker in the legislature.

He said Choate's attack on the agriculture budget was understandable since Agriculture Director Robert "Bud" Williams was doing everything he could to try to get young Vaughn elected.

Choate's office reportedly is intent on avoiding a leadership bloodletting that could produce season-long bickering, blocking legislative accomplishments and making it tough for Democrats in 1976.

There has been considerable speculation Choate and Rep. Gerald Shea, a Riverside Democrat, regarded as Daley's voice in the legislature, could become involved in a deadlock. This, according to some scenarios, would open the way for Rep. William Redmond, D-Bensenville, who is on favorable terms with Walker — to come through as a compromise candidate.

But the Choate spokesman doesn't see it that way. With Senate Minority Leader Cecil Partridge of Chicago virtually a sure bet for Senate president, the pressure will be on for a Downstater as House speaker. And he thinks that Downstater will be Choate. He reasons Choate, a 28-year-veteran, will have the support not only of Daley but of Downstaters who feel Choate's seniority entitles him to the post, and Shea will take the No. 2 job of majority leader.

3 park directors to be elected in GC, Venice

The Granite City and Venice Park districts will elect commissioners in balloting to be held at the same time as municipal elections in four Quad-City communities in April.

Granite City Park district residents are to elect one commissioner, while voters of the Venice Park district will elect two commissioners. Both districts are administered by five-man boards.

While the filing period for park commissioner candidates will be the same, the two park elections will be held on different dates. Election of a Granite City Park Board member will be held April 15. City and village elections are to be held in Madison, Venice, and Ponton Beach on that date.

The Venice Park election, however, will be held on April 1 at the same time as the Granite City municipal election.

Either of the two election dates are optional for park districts under state election codes and have been established by resolution by the two local area park boards.

The filing period for both park elections will open Jan. 13 and continue through Jan. 27. A five-day withdrawal period will follow closing of the filing period.

Nomination petitions may be obtained by Venice candidates from Park Board Secretary Leroy Kutz who may be reached at 876-1513. Petition forms may be obtained by Granite City candidates from Frank Rea, secretary of the Granite City Board, at 1304 Niedringhaus Ave.

In Granite City, a new board member will be elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation last August of Paul H. Thompson. Thompson, whose term expires next year, resigned when he moved to Quincy, Ill.

Other members of the Granite City Park Board are Henry

Gabriel, president, and Barry Loman, vice-president, whose terms expire in 1977, and Robert Patrick and Jacob Hiltner Jr., whose terms expire in 1979.

Two terms expiring next year, the Venice Park district has those of John Mitchell, board president, and Mrs. Ola Dan-drige.

Other board members are Clifford Canner and Willie Teel whose terms expire in 1977, and Peter Ponce whose term expires in 1979.

Park board members are elected to six-year terms. Nomination petitions must be filed with the secretaries of the park boards during the designated filing period.

ILLINOIS' OUTDOOR HERITAGE

SYCAMORE (Platanus occidentalis)

Often called buttonwood or plane-tree, the sycamore sometimes reaches heights of up to 100 feet. No other hardwood attains a greater diameter, and few are so tall. Found in wide groves, sometimes amidst maples, birches, and willows, this species is common in bottomlands, along streams, lakes and ponds in all Illinois counties. It is readily identified by the large palmately lobed leaves and brown mottled bark. The strong wood is almost impossible to split, yet warps readily. The wood is most often found in furniture and interior finishing. The tree is important to wildlife, serving as a den for squirrels and raccoons and providing food for birds. Because of its beauty and shade, this species is often planted as an ornamental. The state record for sycamore is a 55-foot tree in Greene County, near Elfred.

CONSUMER CUES Household products checked for hazards

By BARB MAYER

CHICAGO — Sixty-two-year-old Maggie was trying to keep warm by leaning against her gas stove. One of the burners and the oven were on. Her nightgown ignited and she died from the resulting burns.

Four-year-old Cynthia was playing with the female end of an extension cord and placed it in her mouth. Her saliva made contact with the metal parts and caused an electrical shock and mouth burn.

Robert, age 60, turned on his gas stove and lit a match to light the oven. He dropped the first match and had to light a second. By that time, natural gas had accumulated to cause an explosion, burning him severely.

Data on household accidents like these are compiled by the Consumer Product Safety Commission, headquartered in Washington, D.C. The two-year-old organization has the authority to set or revise standards on potentially dangerous household and recreational products.

Products under the commission's jurisdiction include bicycles, televisions, detergents, spray cans, architectural glass and electrical appliances.

The commission gets its accident statistics through the National Electronic Injury Surveillance System, which reports daily data from hospital emergency rooms nationwide on injuries associated with consumer products.

The commission recently released three reports listing those products which pose the greatest risks of injury to children and women, the "most vulnerable consumers" according to Barbara Hackman Franklin, safety commissioner.

She points out that ordinary household products can be especially hazardous to young children who can't read the labels, don't perceive possible dangers and don't have full physical coordination and control.

Women are vulnerable because they are the primary purchasers and users of products in and around the home.

The report shows that children under age 5 are most of the injured by running or falling into tables. Stairs and landings are the second most frequent source of accidents in this age group.

For children age 5 to 16, bicycles are the leading hazard, contributing to 375,000 injuries treated in hospital emergency rooms over a one-year period.

Women are most frequently injured in falls on stairs, with 185,000 estimated annual injuries. The injuries are often related to inadequate lighting, areas full while going down stairs and catching footwear on stairs.

The second greatest hazard to women is from cooking ranges. The commission estimates that more than 20,000 people require hospital emergency room treatment each year for injuries involving gas and electric kitchen ranges. Twelve thousand of them are women.

Fact sheets on specific consumer hazards are available by writing Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

A fact sheet on "Kitchen Stove Safety" offers guidelines for the purchase and use of electric and gas ranges.

The commission has issued bicycle standards aimed at reducing injuries resulting from mechanical and structural problems. The new regulations will take effect May 1, 1975.

Venice School Yule program

The Venice Grade School will hold its Christmas program Thursday, Dec. 19, in the school gym, with time of the program to be announced to the students later. Parents and interested friends are welcome to attend.

This year, Mrs. Helen Purkapple and Mrs. Hattie Ulley, fourth-grade teachers, planned for a two-room program, but other grades asked to participate and the one-grade program has mushroomed into an all-grade program.

Fifteen pre-school children under the library's Right-to-Read program, will perform in their first school program. They will sing and provide actions to "This Is the Way to Trim Our Tree" and "Eight Little Reindeer." Working with the pre-schoolers are Mrs. Gwen Dake, director of the program, Mrs. Marianne Hay, speech specialist, and Mrs. Betty Ballentine, aide.

Kindergarten children under the direction of Mrs. Lena Rush will sing "Jingle Bells." The first-graders, guided by Mrs. Florence Durer, Mrs. Sharon Gregg, and Mrs. Rogers Mefford, have prepared a play entitled "Toys for Santa" and also will sing "Twas the Night Before Christmas." A poem, "Why Do Bells Ring," will be recited by a group of second graders. They also will sing "Away in a Manger," "Up on the Housetop," "Christmas Is for Children," and "I Saw Mommie Kissing Santa Claus," directed by Mrs. Tena Ponce.

Mrs. Sina Reeves' third-grade students will present a choral reading, "How Far Is It to Bethlehem," and will sing "Silver Bells," accompanied by Miss Tami Boushard.

Two fourth-graders will sing solos — Lynette Crawford singing "Suzzy Snowflake" and Douglas Rankin, "Nuttin' for Christmas." Steven Blatz will portray Santa Claus as students sing "When Santa Claus Gets Your Letter." Additional songs to be sung by the fourth graders are "Christmas Is for Children," "Jingle-Bell Rock," and "Rockin' Around the Christmas Tree."

During the two "Rock" songs, eight elves will perform a dance routine. The elves are Renee Andersson, Stanley Blyue, Debra Darnell, Daniel Fleig, Darlene Grahah, Terrence King, Towanda Salmond, and Zachary Taylor.

A play, "The Animal's Christmas Tree," will be performed by some of the students and also features the above eight elves. Mrs. Purkapple is in charge of the musical numbers, with Mrs. Barbara Williams as accompanist, and Mrs. Ulley, directors. Mrs. Kathy Fields, a Title VII teacher, assisted in developing the dance routine.

Both fifth-grade sections will present short plays. Mrs. Linda Knipping's class has been working on "The Night Before Christmas." Gary Davis, a fifth-grader, has written a play, "Christmas Is Love—Love Is Life," for his fellow students; and Alice Purdes has composed two songs, "Christmas Is" and "Love Is" for the group to sing.

Mrs. Purkapple has worked with the two combined sixth-graders, and they will sing "A Holly Jolly Christmas," "The Winter Song," and "It's Beginning to Look Like Christmas."

Interested seventh graders from both rooms, under the direction of Mrs. Linda Cottrell, have prepared six choral readings. They are "Our Snow Man," "Animal Nonsense

Garden Clubs host party

Two federated Garden Clubs of Granite City, Cloverview and Garden Study, met at Charlie's Restaurant last week for their annual Christmas party. Mrs. Wilmer Winter and Mrs. B. C. O'Neill served as co-chairmen of the event and supervised the gift exchange.

The tables were artistically decorated with centerpieces of evergreen and holly and small Christmas tree highlighted the head table. Individual favors were small Santa Claus candles.

Members of Garden Study club voted to send a contribution to Mrs. Stephen Shea, State Chairman, Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., to be placed in the fund toward the purchase of memorial markers along the highways. For its Christmas charity project a donation has been given to the Salvation Army.

A Christmas wreath made of pine cones and evergreens by Mrs. John Jenkins and Mrs. Fred Orr of the Cloverview Club has been presented to the Colonial Haven Nursing Home and its December project. The club sponsors a monthly program of decorating the nursing home with two members participating each time.

Mrs. Winter welcomed the group and made the introductions.

The invocation prior to the luncheon was given by Mrs. D. B. Maxton and on the afternoon program a reading was given by Mrs. Clifford Mang on the "Christmas Rose"; also "I Remember Christmas," by Nancy Lee Bell. Mrs. O'Neill read a poem by Stella Craft Tremble entitled "Little Child of Bethlehem."

Mrs. Richard Branding led the group in carol singing and those participating were: Cloverview Club, Mrs. William Bradley, president, and Mesdames Kenneth Brokaw, Charles Gandorla, George Knapp, John Lentz, Robert McCauley and Mrs. Joseph Ochso.

From Garden Study, Mrs. Winter, president, and Mesdames Toby Anderson, Robert Briggs, W. C. Cooley, Rolla Grewell, J. O. Lehman, Ronald Maples, Arthur Roman, John Sigile, George Stearns and a guest, Mrs. Abner Branding.

Hostesses included Misses Cindy Everts, Debbie Boker, Carol Ann Gilmore, Mrs. Jo Ann Jarrett, Mrs. Doris Stotz. They were assisted by Mrs. Ruby Corbitt and Mrs. Caroline Lux. Red net skirting covered the gift table which was centered with a lace umbrella, small bride doll and red wedding bells.

Small champagne glasses festooned with wedding bells and red ribbons were used as favors.

The honoree, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gilmore, 1503 Kirkpatrick Homes, will be married to Jim Thompson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Edwardsville, on Jan. 24 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Games were played, and prizes awarded to Mesdames Jean Eberhart, Barbara Smith,

BURGLARIZE RESTAURANT

A rear door lock was broken to allow entry to Roderick's Restaurant, East 24th Street and Nameoki Road, it was reported at 7:20 a.m. Friday. The cigarette vending machine was broken open and an undetermined amount of change was taken. The area behind the restaurant counter was ransacked.

Madison Junior Service dinner

The annual Christmas party of the Madison Junior Service Club held last week at Charlie's Restaurant was attended by 41 members and guests.

After dinner gifts were exchanged and various holiday games were played. Prizes for the evening were won by Mary Ann Kaminski, Lillian Delpa, Julia Voloski, Dorothy Smith and Wanda Kincaid.

During a brief business session, members agreed to contribute a donation to the Salvation Army Tree of Lights and planned the next meeting at the Madison Recreation Center at 7 p.m. Jan. 14. A "luncheon is served" program is being arranged with members selling tickets for the event.

Earlier last week, the club's board members met in the home of the president, Mrs. Shirley Clark, for a Yule party and covered dish dinner. They also exchanged gifts. Those attending the executive party were Fannie Fisk, Shirley Doza, Dorothy Smith, Janet Shultz, Julia Voloski, Carol Childers, Mary Anna Kaminski, Donna Dorris and June Boelling. 5 robbers steal cash

Donald Bernhardt, St. Louis, was robbed of an undetermined amount of cash after his auto was stopped for a train at the Edwardsville Road crossing near 14th Street, he reported at 2:45 a.m. Saturday.

Bernhardt said he and Robert Davis, St. Louis, were in the auto when they stopped behind a pickup truck and waited for a train to pass. Another auto stopped behind them.

Two men and a woman got out of the truck and two other men left the auto behind Bernhardt's car. All five began to walk toward Bernhardt's car, he related.

Bernhardt said he got out of the car to see what they wanted and the woman began to threaten him. One man displayed a pistol and another man asked for his money.

Bernhardt gave them his wallet and a man removed the money and gave him his wallet back, he said.

Davis, who stayed in the car, was not asked for money.

The train passed and the five robbers returned to their vehicles and drove toward Madison.

Bernhardt reported the incident to Madison police, who notified Granite City officers, since the robbery occurred in Granite City.
